

May 4, 2020

Dear Penguin Tyce,

I had a wonderful weekend! I hope you had a nice visit at the North Pole and were able to get outside and play with Santa's reindeer.

If I could wake up tomorrow morning with a superpower, I would want the ability to have conversations with animals, so I could know when they are happy and sad.

If I could design my own superpower uniform, I would want to have the ability to transform into the animal that I'm talking with.

I would want Stryker to have the same superpower so that we could travel together.

I hope you have a fantastic week, Penguin Tyce, and I am so happy that you are keeping me company while I work from home.

Cheers,
Ms. Draper